

CROSSER HOPES FOR ACTION SOON

Expects Committee to Pass on District Railway Ownership by March 1.

READY TO WRITE REPORT

Will Emphasize that Fare Would Be from Two and One-half to Three Cents.

By JOSEPH P. ANNIN.
Representative Crosser, author of a bill directing the District Commissioners to acquire for the District the ownership of all municipal street railways, expects to obtain action by the District Committee on his bill before March 1.

This became known yesterday, when it was learned that Mr. Crosser, as chairman of a subcommittee of the District Committee, which has been conducting hearings on the bill, virtually is ready to write his report for the full committee. Following a discouraging series of attempts to ascertain from street railway officials a fair estimate of the cost of the physical plants involved, the Ohio municipal ownership member has decided to be guided in his report by comparisons with other cities. The report, in favoring the immediate enactment of the Crosser bill, will emphasize the following conclusions, reached as the result of the Crosser investigations:

That with municipal ownership the patrons of Washington street railways could ride for from 2 1/2 to 3 cents a trip, this fare to include universal transfers.

Overcapitalization Charged.
That under present conditions the patrons of Washington street railways are paying dividends on gross overcapitalization in both companies, an overcapitalization which, in the case of the Washington Railway and Electric Company, amounts to nearly, if not quite, 50 percent of the total.

That the immediate divestment of the Washington Railway and Electric Company from the Potomac Electric Power Company is essential to a fair valuation of either company.

These findings strike only the high spots in the Crosser report. Much space will be given to the findings as to the Washington Railway and Electric Company, which gave the probe no end of trouble in ascertaining the physical value of the company's plant. The report will seek to make generous allowances for the values in doubt, and still leave a difference between the capitalization of the company and its tangible assets of about $15,000,000. The report will allow about $11,000,000 for all classes of construction work, rolling stock, buildings, and machinery, and add to this $5,000,000 for the capital stock of the Potomac Electric Power Company, which is capitalized at the $21,471,350 at which the company is capitalized, the report will hold, represents water which has been injected into the company in the course of several reorganizations and refinancings.

Capital Traction Features.
The figures for the Capital Traction Company will be more definite, as the officers of this company were able and willing to give the investigators very definite figures upon cost of construction. The report will hold that this company, too, is much overcapitalized, though the criticism will not be so severe as in the case of the other company.

Representative Crosser expects to resume hearings tomorrow, when several officers of the Capital Traction Company will complete their testimony. Following this a brief examination will be made into the affairs of the Potomac Electric Power Company before the subcommittee reports to the full committee. Mr. Crosser said yesterday he expected to complete his report next week, and the probability is that the bill will be before the full committee shortly thereafter, though it probably will be referred immediately to the District Commissioners for examination and report. It may conflict with plans held by the Commissioners, the measure would be fairly certain of a friendly reception at the District Building. The resolution by the full House Committee, however, is not so assured, and the chances of a favorable report certainly are no better than even at the present writing.

Representative Crosser's bill, providing for the municipal ownership of public utilities was discussed at a meeting between its author and Corporation At-

DO YOU KNOW

That legislation is pending in Congress that, if enacted, will lead to the doubling of your taxes?

That one alternative is a retrograding Capital of the United States, a marked-down Capital, costing $6,000,000 a year to maintain instead of $12,000,000 as at present?

That the only other alternative is the defeat of such legislation?

Read and study the articles by Henry B. F. Macfarland, for years District Commissioner, beginning in to-day's issue of The Herald, and then appeal in person or by letter to Senators and Representatives to save the Capital City.

torney Conrad Syme at the latter's office yesterday.
The legal phases of the bill were given particular consideration. The bill has been referred to the Commissioners for their recommendation and it is expected that they soon will report on the measure and will probably offer a number of amendments.

Under the Capitol Dome.

Announcement that the use of injunctions in labor disputes probably would be forbidden and trade unions exempted from the operations of the Sherman anti-trust law during the present session of Congress, or that a big fight would be made on the House floor to bring about these changes, was made by Representative Buchanan, of Illinois.

It was learned that Mr. Buchanan's statement was inspired by a secret caucus of the labor element in the House, held Monday night.

Henry Torrance, Jr., president of the American Society of Refrigeration Engineers, issued a letter joining the attack upon the McKellar cold storage regulation bill. Hearings on this measure have just been deferred by the House Interstate Commerce Committee until March. Torrance denies that speculation in eggs causes as much harm to the consumer as does speculation in wheat, which he declares should be prohibited first.

A large number of petitions and resolutions for and against the pending Constitutional amendment for nationwide prohibition were presented in the Senate, including one from the Pittsburgh, Pa., Chamber of Commerce, declaring the suppression of the liquor traffic is "not only a commercial question, but a commercial obligation."

The postoffice appropriation bill, carrying a total of $10,000,000, an increase of $500,000 over the House bill, was reported by Chairman Bristow, of the Committee on Postoffice and Post Roads, who said he would ask the Senate to begin consideration of it Monday.

An amendment to the Federal reserve act repealing the provision against the deposits of postal savings funds in any but member banks was presented in the Senate by Senator Bristow. He said that at present the funds are deposited in local banks, and that the enforcement of the prohibition would deprive many State banks of these deposits.

The Senate concurred in the House amendment to the bill for the eradication of hog cholera, combining with the appropriation of $500,000 for this purpose, an additional $100,000 for the study and prevention of disease, a disease peculiar to the State of Montana and surrounding States.

Arguments that the Chesapeake Bay fish supply is jeopardized by the inroads of fertilizer manufacturers were presented to the House Committee on Interstate Commerce by officials of the government and the State of Maryland. The committee is urged to report the legislation forbidding fertilizer manufacturers from incorporating food fish in their product.

Secretary Redfield informed the committee that he approved of the bill.

Representative Dillon, of South Dakota, introduced in the House a bill providing that one-half the proceeds of sales of town sites in the Northern District of Dakota should be set aside in a special fund to be turned over to rich towns as shall be organized on these town sites.

Supporting the rural credits bill before a subcommittee of the House Banking and Currency Committee, George W. Fisher, of Redfield, S. Dak., described the bill as a "train of shovels" representing the waste of every waste of home-steaders, stripping them of their pound of flesh and then being in wait for the next crop of suckers." Fisher strongly approved the rural credits banking system.

Representative Green, of Iowa, announced his intention of telling the House in a speech, in a few days, the story of the "New Havenizing" of the Rock Island Railroad during the past eleven years by the Moore-Reid-Leeds syndicate. He has introduced a resolution calling on the Interstate Commerce Commission to investigate the financial and physical condition of the road.

The Senate in executive session confirmed a large number of nominations. Rev. Otis A. Glazebrook, of New Jersey, was confirmed as consul at Jerusalem; Stuart K. Lupton as consul general at Guatemala, and Col. George Barnett, for major general commandant of the Marine Corps.

The President sent to the Senate the nomination of E. Marvin Underwood, of Atlanta, Ga., to be Assistant Attorney General. The nomination was made on the recommendation of Attorney General McReynolds, who is a personal friend of Mr. Underwood.

The President also nominated Clarence E. Smith, of Fairmont, W. Va., to be United States Marshal for the Northern District of West Virginia.
Three Municipal Court judges were named for the District of Columbia—Michael M. Doyle, Milton Strausburger and Robert H. Terrell.

Among the nominations for postmasters sent in were:

IDA HUSTED HARPER AGAIN TELLS ABOUT ANTIS AND LIQUOR INTERESTS

On two successive Sunday afternoons the District of Columbia Anti-Suffrage Association has met and issued an official statement, through its president, Mrs. Augustus P. Gardner, charging me with making assertions which were entirely unsupported by facts. I leave it to the verdict of all who read the articles in the Washington Sunday Herald of February 8 and 15 whether every paragraph was not conclusively supported by obvious facts. If there was an exception let the "antis" point it out, instead of following the axiom, "Abuse the lawyer on the other side when you have no case."

In Mrs. Gardner's first statement, February 8, she says: "There are many facts available proving that the liquor interests are co-operating with the suffragists." The only one cited in support of this charge is to the effect that in the States where women vote they have not secured prohibition of the liquor traffic. No court and not even the average individual would accept this as proof of co-operation between the women and the liquor interests, especially in view of the large amount of legislation restricting this traffic which has been obtained in those States admittedly through the influence of woman suffrage.

In the second statement of Mrs. Gardner, February 16, she makes a more serious allegation: "At best Mrs. Harper's argument is but a weak defense of the position in which the suffrage forces find themselves with regard to their alliance with the liquor interests. This is a fact which has been admitted by prominent suffragists everywhere." The only foundation offered for this assertion is a quotation from Mrs. Trout in regard to those who voted for the woman suffrage bill in the Illinois legislature: "Among its firm supporters were some of the so-called 'wets'." Mrs. Trout said something similar to this in her address before the recent National Suffrage Convention in Washington in showing the wholly nonpartisan support of the bill, that it was voted for by Democrats, Republicans, Progressives, and even some of the so-called "wets."

In Illinois, as elsewhere, by "wets" is meant those who are opposed to a "dry" town, one where no liquor is allowed to be sold. There are hundreds of thousands of such men who have not the slightest connection with the liquor business and who drink very moderately or not at all. They are simply opposed to what they call sumptuary or prohibitory laws, and generally they object to woman suffrage because they think it leads to such laws through local option. Mrs. Trout considered it a triumph for the merits of the bill that some of these men would vote for it. I know an officer in a large brewers' association who is a strong advocate of the franchise for women, because he believes it is their right. Doubtless there are even saloonkeepers who would vote for it because their sense of justice is stronger than their fear of possible injury to their business.

In speaking of the "liquor interests" one does not refer to isolated individuals. Mrs. Gardner makes the definite statement: "The suffrage forces are in an alliance with the liquor interests, and this is a fact which has been admitted by prominent suffragists everywhere." As sole proof of this damaging charge she quotes one woman as saying that some "wets" in the Illinois legislature voted for a bill giving a partial franchise to women. This will not do, Mrs. Gardner. No such flimsy proof can be accepted by anybody. If you are telling the truth when you say: "The fact has been admitted by prominent suffragists everywhere that their forces are allied with the liquor interests," then you can name some of these "prominent suffragists." If you cannot or will not do this, then you must stand convicted of publishing broadcast over your own signature an unmitigated falsehood.

KENYON LAW DISGRACE TO NATION, SAYS FINCH

Federal Investigator Holds Up Act to Maryland Legislature as Warning to State.

MUST CARE FOR DELINQUENTS YARD HERE IS GIVEN $125,000

Annapolis, Md., Feb. 18.—Branding as a disgrace to the nation the passage by Congress of the Kenyon law, wiping out the "red light" district of Washington without making any provision for its inmates, Stanley W. Finch, head of the National Social Welfare League, and for many years a member of the Maryland State Department of Justice, today sounded a note of warning to Maryland lest it do the same thing.

Mr. Finch's warning was delivered to members of the house ways and means committee and the senate finance committee, which had arranged a hearing for a large delegation that had come to Annapolis to urge State control of the Maryland Industrial School.

Mr. Finch urged the committee to make arrangements for taking over the school, saying that unless such control is assumed the State may find itself in the same position that the National Capital now finds itself.

There are some objections to the idea of housing delinquent girls and dependent children under the same roof as now is being done.
Mr. Finch explained that by throwing the two classes of girls together the method would work to the disadvantage of the dependents. He set the example in which the inmates of Washington's "red light" district had been thrown into the streets without any provision whatever having been made for them, was a blot on the national honor, which was not to be repeated in Maryland.

Mr. Finch said that the school, which was established by the Kenyon law, cannot carry on their traffic.
The executive committee of the central committee, which has charge of the welfare of providing homes and employment for former inmates of the "district" will meet this afternoon at 2 o'clock at 404 Corcoran Building. Two police men have obtained evidence, it is said, which may result in the bringing of several actions under the Kenyon law.

The citizens' associations of various sections of the city as yet have taken no official action, but will not tolerate the wholesale spreading of inmates of the "district" to other parts of Washington.
So far no specific complaints have been registered with the police precincts. Real estate agents have been asked to co-operate with the police by not renting apartments and houses to women of questionable character.

Besides watching unrented houses, apartments and boarding houses, the police are keeping a close watch on saloons, cafes, hotels and rooming houses. Now that Judge James L. Pugh, in the Police Court, has ruled the Kenyon law does not repeal the old law giving the police the authority to "abate a nuisance," there seems to be plenty of leeway for the authorities to break up the "evil." Judge Pugh takes the position that the Kenyon law has made it possible to cope with property owners who rent their houses for "questionable purposes."

Chief of Police Goode, of Alexandria, Va., has the situation well in hand in his city. He has not permitted any women from the Washington "district" to locate there. He has photographs of all inmates of the Alexandria district and keeps a close watch on these women.

CASTILLO'S FATE NOT DETERMINED

Capture of Bandit Presents a Complicated Problem to Officials.

DECISION EXPECTED SOON

Mexican Charged with Death of Americans in Position to Cause Legal Tangle.

The capture of Maximo Castillo and six of his band, said to be responsible for the death of fourteen Americans in a train in the Cuernavaca tunnel in Chihuahua, has presented to the authorities at Washington a complicated problem, the solution of which was not even attempted yesterday. The question now is what is to be done with Castillo and his men, and how.

The War Department yesterday was informed officially that Castillo had been caught on the American side of the line by an army patrol in New Mexico, and that he and his followers were being sent to El Paso, to be turned over to Brig. Gen. Scott, commanding at that point. The Mexicans are being held on the charge of crossing into the United States under arms, in violation of the neutrality statute of this government.

Secretary Bryan has asked Gen. Villa to apprehend and punish Castillo for his alleged responsibility for the death of the fourteen Americans.

Decision Expected Soon.

It is believed the State Department will decide what procedure is to be adopted in this case, and which department is to take charge of the matter. A decision is expected in a day or two.

Castillo is in a position to raise legal difficulties, it is believed, if he obtains the services of a lawyer on the border. He is reported as denying that he caused the train disaster in which the Americans were killed, and claims also that he is not a bandit, but the representative of the Zapata cause in the north.

Masana Hanihara, formerly counselor of the Japanese Embassy in Washington, is expected to arrive in Washington today or Friday on his way from Mexico City to Japan. Ambassador Chinda saw Secretary of State Bryan yesterday afternoon, and it is believed he arranged for Mr. Hanihara to call at the State Department during his stay in Washington.

Mr. Hanihara is now attached to the Japanese foreign office and was sent to Mexico by his government on board the Japanese cruiser Idzumi, now in Mexican waters. He went to Mexico City, and co-operated with the Japanese minister there in arranging for the adequate protection of Japanese subjects in Mexico, in case of a general attack upon foreigners. It is also understood that he conducted a general examination into conditions in Mexico, and that it is to report to the embassy here on the Mexican situation that he is stopping off at Washington. At the embassy, it is said, his visit is purely social and personal, and for the purpose of renewing acquaintance with friends in Washington.

The coming of Mr. Hanihara is regarded as of special interest in view of the announcement previously made that Sir Lancelot Carden, British minister to Mexico, would stop at Washington on his way to England, probably early in March, and that he would stop at the Secretary of State Bryan and President Wilson.

The bill carries a full scheme for celebration of the opening of the Panama Canal, including the parade from the Atlantic to the Pacific. A fund of $100,000 is provided for the entertainment of the men and officers of foreign vessels taking part in this procession through the completed waterway. Payment of tolls on these foreign war vessels for the occasion is remitted.

Mare Island Navy Yard gets $257,000 in the bill, while the lease of a drydock at Hunters Point, San Francisco, at $500 a year, for five years is authorized. Pearl Harbor station, Hawaii, is given $120,000. A fuel oil station at San Francisco is established at a cost of $500,000.

Her Boston Navy Yard and appropriation of $125,000 is cut to $22,000. New York Navy Yard gets but $67,500 and a waterfront improvement of $175,000 is denied. Philadelphia's yard gets $35,000, and Washington Navy Yard $125,000. The proposed gun factory extension to cost $500,000 is rejected. At Norfolk $100,000 is given to apply on the purchase of a new $200,000 crane.

The whole bill will be taken up by the full committee next Tuesday.

WILL "KNOCK" STATESMEN.

Knight of Momus Prepares to "Roast" Their Guests.

"Knocks" are in store for about thirty Senators and Representatives, who will be special guests, at the annual banquet of the Knights of Momus, better known as "The Knockers," at Rauecher's Monday night, when the printers of Washington, especially those of the Government Printing Office, will entertain.

"The Hilarious Record," containing sixteen pages of speeches, running debates, motions, resolutions and points of order, will be one of the innovations of this year. Frank D. Smith, president of the Knights of Momus, has been the cause of much merriment by introducing Thomas A. Bynum, junior past president, as toastmaster.

Pimples Often the Source of Serious Blood Trouble

In thousands of instances blood troubles have been the result of coming in contact with disease germs in public places. And the apparently insignificant pimple has been the cause. It spreads with astonishing rapidity, often infecting the entire system in a few days.

It is fortunate, however, that there is a remedy to cope quickly and thoroughly with such a condition, in the famous S. S. S.

This preparation stands alone as a blood purifier. It is a somewhat revolutionary in its composition, since it has accomplished all that was ever claimed for mercury, iodides, arsenic, and other destructive mineral drugs, and yet it is absolutely a purely vegetable product. It contains one ingredient which serves the active purpose of stimulating each tiny cellular part of the tissues to the healthy and normal condition.

It is a selection of its own essential nutrient. There are more cases of articular rheumatism, locomotor ataxia, paresis, neuritis, and similar diseases resulting from the use of minerals than most people are aware of. These facts are brought out in a highly interesting book compiled by the medical department of The Swift Specialties Co., 204 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. It is mailed free, together with special information, to all who write describing their symptoms.
